Parties Contentions

Complainant

The Complainant, WhatsApp LLC [Hereinafter referred to as 'Complainant'] in their complaint, interalia, contended as follows:

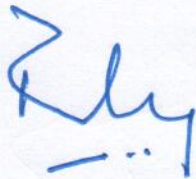

The Respondent's domain name is identical or confusingly similar to a name, trademark or service in which the Complainant has rights.

The Complainant, based on the business, common law rights and trademark registrations for the trademark "WHATSAPP" and related variations, and based on the use of the said trademark in India, the United Arab Emirates [UAE], and other countries, submitted that they are the lawful owner of the trademark 'WHATSAPP'.

The Complainant submits that as the disputed domain name is 'www.gbwhatsappdownload.co.in', the disputed domain name is clearly identical/confusingly similar to the Complainant's trademark in which the Complainant has exclusive rights and legitimate interest.

Background of the Complainant and its statutory and common law rights Adoption:

The Complainant, WhatsApp LLC is the provider of a popular mobile messaging application, WhatsApp. It was founded in 2009 and was subsequently acquired by Meta Platforms, Inc. [formerly known as Facebook, Inc., or Meta] in 2014. WhatsApp allows users across the globe to exchange messages for free via smartphones, including iPhone and Android.

The Complainant was previously known as "WhatsApp, Inc." and has recently undergone a change in corporate structure from a Corporation to a Limited Liability Company. This change was made effective from 1 January 2021. The Complaint avers that the trademark certificates and Whols records that still include references to "WhatsApp, Inc." are in the process of being updated.

Since its launch in 2009, the Complainant has gained over 2 billion monthly active users worldwide [as of 2023], and has also secured considerable reputation and goodwill worldwide, including in India and the UAE [where the Respondent is based].

The Complainant is the owner of numerous domain names, containing the mark 'WHATSAPP', under various generic Top-Level Domains [gTLDs] as well as under many country-code Top-Level Domains [ccTLDs]. Its main website is available at <www.whatsapp.com>, which also allows internet users to access its messaging platform. This website is the earliest registration of the Complainant containing the mark "WHATSAPP", dating 2008.

Statutory rights:

The Complainant has registrations for the different variations of the mark 'WHATSAPP' 'in the United States of America, India, the UAE and many other countries. The mark is registered under class 42 in the United States, classes 9 and 38 in India and internationally, and class 35 in the UAE.

The Complainant also has trademark registrations for its telephone logo in India as well as internationally. It is registered under classes 9 and 38 in India and internationally.

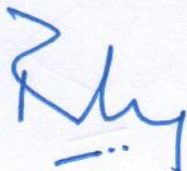

Respondent

The Respondent failed to reply to the notice regarding the complaint.

Discussion and Findings

The Respondent does not have any relationship with the business of the Complainant or any legitimate interest in the mark/brand "WHATSAPP". Moreover, the Complainant has neither given any license nor authorized the Respondent to use the Complainant's mark. The Respondent has never been commonly known by the domain name in question and registered the domain name on June 15, 2023, which is subsequent to Complainant's usage of the trademark "WHATSAPP".

The Complainant started its operations in 2009. The domain name <www.whatsapp.com> [which currently houses the Complainant's primary website] has been registered by the Complainant or its predecessors in title since 2008. The Complainant's website <www.whatsapp.com> is extremely popular in India, the UAE and around the world and the Complainant has valid and subsisting trademark registrations for the mark "WHATSAPP" and the corresponding logo in India, as well as internationally.

The disputed domain name contains the entirety of the Complainant's trademark "WHATSAPP". Furthermore, the addition of the top-level domain ".co.in" is irrelevant in determining whether the disputed domain name is confusingly similar to the Complainant's mark. It is well established that the specific top-level domain, such as ".com", ".net", ".in", ".co.in", ".org.in" etc. does not affect the domain name for the purpose of determining whether it is identical or confusingly similar [Relevant Decisions: Magnum Piering, Inc. v. The Mudjackers and Garwood S. Wilson, Sr., WIPO Case No. D2000-1525; Rollerblade, Inc. v. Chris McCrady, WIPO Case No. D2000-0429; Aon PLC and Ors. v. Guanrui, INDRP/633; LEYBOLD GMBH v. Madhuri Pawar and Leybold Pune, INDRP/1879].

It is a well-established principle that once the Complainant makes a prima facie case showing that a Respondent lacks the rights to the domain name at issue, the Respondent must come forward with the proof that it has some legitimate interest in the domain name to rebut this presumption.

The Respondent's Default

The INDRP Rules of Procedure require under Rule 13(b) that the arbitrator must ensure that each party is given a fair opportunity to present its case. Rule 13(b) reads as follows

"The Arbitrator shall at all times treat the Parties with equality and provide each one of them with a fair opportunity to present their case."

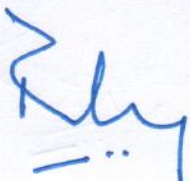

Rule 17 empowers the Arbitrator to proceed with an ex parte decision in case any party does not comply with the time limits or fails to reply against the complaint. Rule 17 reads as follows:

"In event any party breaches the provisions of INDRP rules and/or directions of the Arbitrator, the matter can be decided ex-parte by the Arbitrator and such arbitral award shall be binding in accordance to law."

The Respondent was given notice of this administrative proceeding in accordance with the Rules. The .IN Registry discharged its responsibility under Rule 2(a) to employ reasonably available means calculated to achieve actual notice to the Respondent of the Complaint.

As previously indicated, the Respondent failed to file any reply to the Complaint and has not sought to answer the Complainant's assertions, evidence or contentions in any manner. The Panel finds that the Respondent has been given a fair opportunity to present his case.

The 'Rules' under paragraph 13(a) provides that the Arbitrator shall decide the Complaint on the basis of the statements and documents submitted in accordance with the INDRP and any law that the Arbitrator deems fit to be applicable. In accordance with the Rules, paragraph 17, the Arbitrator may draw such inferences as are appropriate from the Respondent's failure to reply to the Complainant's assertions and evidence or to otherwise contest the Complaint. In the circumstances, the Arbitrator's / Panel's decision is based upon the Complainant's assertions and evidence and inferences drawn from the Respondent's failure to reply.

The issues involved in the dispute

The Complainant in its complaint has invoked paragraph 4 of the INDRP which reads:

“Types of Disputes –

Any Person who considers that a registered domain name conflicts with his/her legitimate rights or interests may file a Complaint to the .IN Registry on the following premises:

(a) the Registrant’s domain name is identical and/or confusingly similar to a Name, Trademark or Service Mark, etc. in which the Complainant has rights; and

(b) the Registrant has no rights or legitimate interests in respect of the domain name; and

(c) the Registrant’s domain name has been registered or is being used in bad faith or for illegal/unlawful purpose.”

Discussion and Findings

According to paragraph 4 of the INDRP, there are 3 essential elements of a domain name dispute which are being discussed hereunder in light of the facts and circumstances of this case.

The Registrant’s domain name is identical and/or confusingly similar to a name, trademark or service mark in which the Complainant has rights.

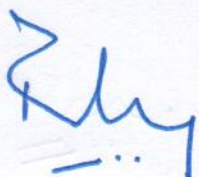

It has been proved by the Complainant that they have intellectual property, particularly trademark rights, and other rights in the mark ‘WHATSAPP’ by submitting substantial documents. The disputed domain name contains the Complainant’s registered trademark ‘WHATSAPP’ ‘in its entirety.

Apart from trademark registrations, the Complainant has submitted a list of domain names owned by it containing the mark ‘WHATSAPP’. The Complainant’s primary website under the ‘WHATSAPP’ ‘mark <www.whatsapp.com> has been registered since 2008.

It has been previously decided under the INDRP that incorporating a trademark in its entirety is sufficient to establish the identical and confusingly similar nature of the disputed domain name. Moreover, the addition of the letters “gb” or the term “download” to the disputed domain name does not absolve it from the confusing similarity and affiliation to the Complainant’s trademark ‘WHATSAPP’. [Relevant Decisions: WhatsApp LLC v. Registration Private, Domains By Proxy, LLC/Muhammad Asif, WIPO Case No. D2022-3170 [<gbwhatsappdownload.com>]; WhatsApp LLC v. Ada Pascal, INDRP/1631].

According to paragraph 3 of the INDRP it is the responsibility of the Respondent to find out before registration that the domain name he is going to register does not violate the rights of any proprietor/brand owner.

Paragraph 3 of the INDRP is reproduced below:

"The Registrant's Representations -

By applying to register a domain name, or by asking a Registrar to maintain or renew a domain name registration, the Registrant hereby represents and warrants that:

- (a) the credentials furnished by the Registrant for registration of Domain Name are complete and accurate;*
- (b) to the knowledge of Registrant, the registration of the Domain Name will not infringe upon or otherwise violate the rights of any third party;*
- (c) the Registrant is not registering the domain name for an unlawful and malafide purpose; and*
- (d) the Registrant will not knowingly use the domain name in violation or abuse of any applicable laws or regulations. It is the sole responsibility of the Registrant to determine whether their domain name registration infringes or violates someone else's rights."*

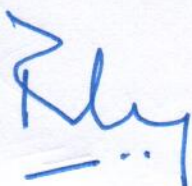

The Respondent has failed in its responsibility discussed above and in the light of the pleadings and documents filed by the Complainant; the Panel has come to the conclusion that the disputed domain name is identical with or deceptively similar to the Complainant's trademark "WHATSAPP". Accordingly, the Panel concludes that the Complainant has satisfied the first element required by Paragraph 4 of the INDRP. [Relevant Decisions: Magnum Piering, Inc. v. The Mudjackers and Garwood S. Wilson, Sr., WIPO Case No. D2000-1525; Aon PLC and Ors. v. Gangadhar Mahesh, INDRP/632; Wells Fargo & Co. and Anr. v. DeepDas Kumar, INDRP/628; Natures Basket Limited & Ors. v. Achyut Khare, INDRP/886; TransferWise Ltd. vs. Normand Clavet, INDRP/1150;]

The Registrant has no rights or legitimate interests in respect of the domain name

The second element that the Complainant needs to prove and as is required by paragraph 4(b) of the INDRP is that the Respondent has no rights or legitimate interests in the disputed domain name.

The Complainant has never assigned, granted or in any way authorised the Respondent to register or use the 'WHATSAPP' trademark or any other related mark. The Complainant has been using the "WHATSAPP" mark for a bonafide purpose in relation to its business for several years.

Moreover, the burden of proof on the Complainant regarding this element of the domain name dispute lies most directly within the Respondent's knowledge. Once the Complainant has made a prima facie case showing that the Respondent does not have any rights or legitimate interest in the domain name, the evidentiary burden shifts to the Respondent to rebut the contention by providing evidence of its rights or interests in the domain name. [Relevant Decision: Instagram LLC v. Ding RiGuo., INDRP/1183]

The Respondent has not rebutted the contentions of the Complainant and has not produced any documents or submissions to show his interest in protecting his own right and interest in the domain name.

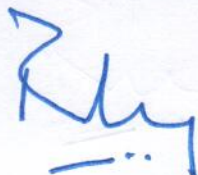

It has been recognised by prior panels that service providers using a domain name containing a third-party trademark may be making a bona fide offering of goods or services and thus have a legitimate interest in such domain name. Whether or not this is the case is typically measured against the list of factors set out in Oki Data Americas, Inc. v. ASD, Inc., WIPO Case No. D2001-0903 [<okidataparts.com>], called the "Oki Data criteria":

- (i) the respondent must actually be offering the goods or services at issue;
- (ii) the respondent must use the site to sell only the trademarked goods or services;
- (iii) the site must accurately and prominently disclose the registrant's relationship with the trademark holder;
- (iv) the respondent must not try to "corner the market" in a domain name that reflects the trademark.

The Complaint contends that the Respondent had initially used the domain name to display a website 'which purported to promote and offer for download various modified APK2 versions of WhatsApp developed by third parties, such as "GB WhatsApp", "FM WhatsApp", "YO WhatsApp" and "WhatsApp PLUS". At the time of the filing of the complaint, the domain name launches the ACL Cargo Website. The former use can purport an association between the Respondent and the Complainant. In this regard, the Respondent has failed to prove the factors set out in the Oki Data Criteria. Moreover, the Respondent has no rights over the "WHATSAPP" mark used in the disputed domain name or the logo and figurative trademark of its green telephone logo contended to have been used in the previous website of the Respondent and has not made any legitimate non-commercial or fair use of the disputed domain name, without intent for commercial gain. The Respondent is thus misleading consumers by using the Complainant's mark "WHATSAPP" in the disputed domain name.

Further, the purported promotion of the modified WhatsApp APKs that was initially done through Domain Name was not authorised by the Complainant and violated the Complainant's Terms of Service. [Relevant Decisions: WhatsApp, Inc. v. Nasser Bahaj, WIPO Case No. D2016-0581, "The Respondent is not making a bona fide offering of goods or services via the disputed domain names but is rather offering unauthorised and unlicensed versions of the Complainant's application"]

Neither the Respondent's name, "Willem Prinsloo", nor the company name "ACL Cargo Global" on the Respondent's website featured on the disputed domain name bears any resemblance or relation to the disputed domain name. The Respondent's purported previous or current use of the disputed domain cannot support any reasonable claim of being commonly known by the disputed domain name, and such use also fails to establish any independent reputation of the Respondent in the disputed domain name, distinct from the Complainant's trademark rights. This clearly establishes that the Respondent is attempting to encash on the goodwill and reputation of the Complainant and their mark "WHATSAPP" and their logo and figurative trademark, raising the risk of implied affiliation. It has been established by Panels that the use of modified versions of the Complainant's logo contributes to a risk of confusion and implied affiliation with the Complainant and does not constitute bona fide use. [Relevant Decisions: Adobe Inc. v. Seeds Provider, INDRP/1255; WhatsApp Inc. v. WhoisGuard Protected, WhoisGuard, Inc. / Mohsen Moussawi, WIPO Case No. D2021-0032; Lemon Inc. v. saleem abbas, WIPO Case No. D2023-4066].

In addition to this, the very fact that the disputed domain name was registered by the Respondent subsequent to Complainant's use of the mark "WHATSAPP" clearly establishes that the Respondent must have registered the domain name to cash-in on the popularity of the Complainant's brand. Additionally, the fact that the Respondent has not submitted any response in its defence as well as the fact that the WHOIS details provided by the Respondent are either incomplete or incorrect indicates, under the present circumstances, the lack of rights and legitimate interests of the Respondent in the disputed domain name.

For these reasons, the Panel finds that the Respondent has no rights or legitimate interests in the disputed domain name. [Relevant Decisions: Aon PLC and Ors. v. Guanrui, INDRP/633; Wells Fargo & Co. and Anr. v. SreeDas Kumar, INDRP/666; QRG Enterprises Limited & Anr. v. Zhang Mi, INDRP/852; Santa Fe Transport International Limited and Santa Fe Moving Services Private Limited v. Santa fe Packers, Packers Movers WIPO Case No. D2017-0754; Havells India Limited and Anr. v. Whois Foundation, WIPO Case No. D2016-1775; Mahendra Singh Dhoni and Anr. v. David Hanley, WIPO Case No. D2016-1692; Instagram, LLC v. shao ning liu, liu shao ning, WIPO Case No. D2019-1264]

The Registrant's domain name has been registered or is being used in bad faith.

It has been contended by the Complainant that the Respondent has registered and has used the disputed domain name in bad faith. The language of the INDRP paragraph 4(c) is clear enough, and requires that either bad faith registration or bad faith use be proved.

Paragraph 7 of the INDRP provides that the following circumstances are deemed to be evidence that a Respondent has registered and used a domain name in bad faith:

"For the purposes of Clause 4(c), the following circumstances, in particular but without limitation, if found by the Arbitrator to be present, shall be evidence of the Registration and use of a domain name in bad faith:

- (a) circumstances indicating that the Registrant has registered or acquired the domain name primarily for the purpose of selling, renting, or otherwise transferring the domain name registration to the Complainant, who bears the name or is the owner of the Trademark or Service Mark, or to a competitor of that Complainant, for valuable* consideration in excess of the Registrant's documented out-of-pocket costs directly related to the domain name; or

(b) the Registrant has registered the domain name in order to prevent the owner of the Trademark or Service Mark from reflecting the mark in a corresponding domain name, provided that the Registrant has engaged in a pattern of such conduct; or by using the domain name, the Registrant has intentionally attempted to attract Internet users to the Registrant's website or other on-line location, by creating a likelihood of confusion with the Complainant's name or mark as to the source, sponsorship, affiliation, or endorsement of the Registrant's website or location or of a product or service on the Registrant's website or location; or The Registrant has registered the domain name primarily for the purpose of disrupting the business of a competitor."

From the circumstances of the case and from the evidences put before the Panel by the Complainant, the Panel is of the opinion that the Respondent had no previous connection with the disputed domain name or the mark "WHATSAPP" and any use of the disputed domain name by the Respondent, would result in confusion and deception of the trade, consumers and public, who would assume a connection or association between the Complainant and the Respondent's website or other online locations of the Respondent or product/services on the Respondent's website and otherwise, due to the use by Respondent of the Complainant's trademark "WHATSAPP" in the disputed domain name, which trademark has been widely used by the Complainant and which trademark is associated exclusively with the Complainant.

The Panel is prepared to accept the Complainant's contention that its mark, its logo and the corresponding business through the website <www.whatsapp.com> is famous. With regard to famous names, successive UDRP panels have found bad faith registration because Complainant's name was famous at the time of registration: WIPO/D2000-0310 [choyongpil.net]; WhatsApp Inc. v. Warrick Mulder, INDRP/1233 [whatsapp.in].

Based on the submissions and evidences put forth before the Panel, the Panel is of the belief that the Respondent would have definitely known about the Complainant's mark 'WHATSAPP' and its reputation at the time of registering the disputed domain name.

The domain name is deceptively similar to the trademark of the Complainant and will lead to confusion with the Complainant's mark 'WHATSAPP' as to the source, sponsorship, affiliation or endorsement of the Respondent's business by the Complainant. Moreover, the contended portrayal of an association with the Complainant's brand by the Respondent through his initial website is, in view of the Panel, a constituent of bad faith on the part of the Respondent.

The fact that the disputed domain name was registered by the Respondent subsequent to the Complainant's use of the mark "WHATSAPP" makes it apparent that the Respondent must have registered the domain name to cash-in on the popularity of the Complainant's 'WHATSAPP' brand and website <www.whatsapp.com>. Additionally, the fact that the Respondent has not submitted any response in its defence as well as the fact that the WHOIS details provided by the Respondent are either incomplete or incorrect, are both indicators of bad faith under the present circumstances.

On bad faith registration and use [generally], panels have noted: "Registration of a well-known trademark by a party with no connection to the owner of the trademark and no authorization and no legitimate purpose to utilize the mark reveals bad faith": NAF/FA95314 [thecaravanclub.com], WIPO/D2000-0808 [very use of domain name by Respondent who had no connection whatsoever with Complainant's mark and product suggests opportunistic bad faith - 4icq.com]; "Registration of a domain name that is confusingly similar or identical to a famous trademark....is itself sufficient evidence of bad faith registration and use" [Wells Fargo & Co. and Anr. v. Krishna Reddy, INDRP/581]; QRG Enterprises Limited & Anr. v. Zhang Mi, INDRP/852].

Thus, all three conditions given in paragraph 4 of the INDRP are proved in the circumstances of this case and thus the registration of the impugned domain name by the Respondent/Registrant is a registration in bad faith.

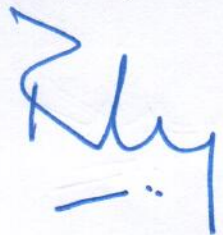

Decision

The Respondent has failed to comply with Para 3 of the INDRP which requires that it is the responsibility of the Respondent to ensure before the registration of the impugned domain name by him that the domain name registration does not infringe or violate someone else's rights.

The Complainant has given sufficient evidence to prove extensive trademark rights over the disputed domain name. Further, the Respondent's adoption and registration of the disputed domain name is dishonest and malafide.

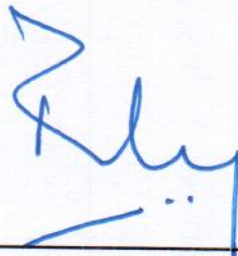

While the overall burden of proof rests with the Complainant, panels have recognized that this could result in the often-impossible task of proving a negative, requiring information that is often primarily within the knowledge of the Respondent. Therefore, the Complainant is required to make out a prima facie case that the Respondent lacks rights or legitimate interests. Once such prima facie case is made, the Respondent carries the burden of demonstrating rights or legitimate interests in the domain name. In this case, the Respondent did not file any response in its defense. Based on the facts of the case, it is apparent that the Respondent is using the disputed domain name in bad faith and has registered the domain name to cash-in on the reputation of the Complainant's mark and to prevent the owner of the trademark or service mark from reflecting the mark in a corresponding domain name.
